AGROTRADE will buy one of the subsidiary assets of Ukrzernoprom Agro

AGROTRADE continues to increase the land bank

Agrotrade Group intends to acquire three agricultural companies in Kharkiv and Chernihiv regions with a total land bank of 10.3 thousand. hectares of land

As noted in the message of the AMCU, it is about LLC "Ukrzernoprom-Shevchenkovo", LLC "Zolochevskoe" (both Kharkiv region), as well as LLC "Name. Vatutyna" (Chernigov region)

According to the committee's announcement, these acquisitions will provide AGROTRADE with more than 50% of the votes in the higher management bodies of the specified companies.

It should be noted that "Ukrzernoprom-Shevchenkovo" is a subsidiary asset of the large Ukrainian agricultural holding "Ukrzernoprom Agro", whose land bank is gradually decreasing. In the summer of 2012, the co-owner of the holding, Anton Shishkin, announced that he intends to sell his agribusiness, because in his opinion: "This business has already exhausted itself." In particular, a couple of months ago, Ukrzernoprom Agro sold one of its subsidiaries, Agroplaza (20,000 ha) to the Dnipropetrovsk agricultural holding KSG-Agro.

In turn, "Agrotrade", as stated earlier, continues to adhere to the strategic plan to increase the land bank to 100-150 thousand. Ha.
