

Kikonda Forest Reserve

The Project

In 2002 we were invited by the Ugandan Ministry of Environment to reforest the Kikonda Forest Reserve. Since then, more than 8 million trees had been planted, covering an area larger than 10,000 soccer fields. In 2010, the project was sold, and is currently managed by a local family business (Nile Fibreboards). Until 2022, global-woods international assisted the project in the promotion and sale of carbon credits.

Project Start 2002
Certification according to
GoldStandard, FSC

SOLD OUT

Climate

Biodiversity

Economy & People

Between 2002 and 2020, over 10,000 hectares of degraded land have been reforested with more than 8 million trees, contributing to the sequestration of more than 1 million tons of CO₂.

Reports

2017

Facing Land Conflict FSC Report

Facing land conflict by growing farmers' means to support themselves...

Read more

2020

Criterion Africa Partners Successfully Exits Ugandan Timber Plantation Press Release

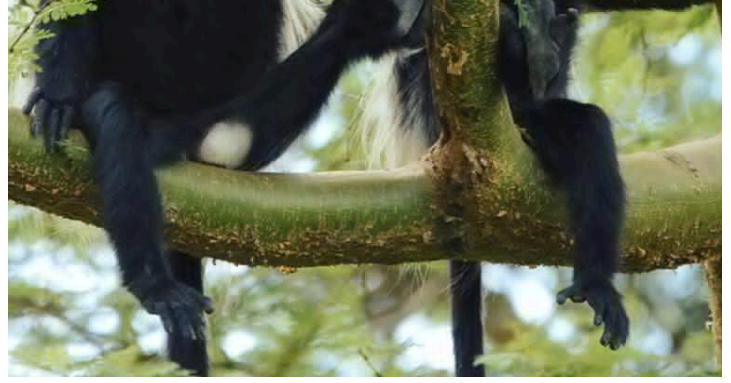

Criterion Africa Partners, Inc. ("CAP"), a private equity firm investing in the forestry sector in...

Read more

“Poverty was the order of the day because people didn’t have a way to work and earn money. But when the company came in, it improved people’s lives by hiring them, constructing permanent houses, and contributing to our children’s education.”

Robert Zziwa (Neighbour community member)

Gallery

Location

Hoima, Uganda.

