China Asean Resources owns three forests measuring approximately of 31,000 hectares (equivalent to approximately 310 million sq.m.) under 70-year Economic Land Concession in Kratie Province, Kingdom of Cambodia. The Concession is for a period of 70 years commencing 2007.

Our core businesses are:

A. Forestry and wood processing

Based on reports by The Research Institute of Tropical Forestry, a unit within the Chinese Academy of Forestry, the Concession had more than 5 million cubic metres of timber stock.

We carry out logging and process the salvage logs into sawn timber, wood flooring materials, particleboards, plywood and furniture.

B. Plantation

We are cultivating a rubber plantation in the Concession progressively as the forest is cleared. We will produce latex from the matured rubber trees from about 2013. We will also explore the cultivation of other economic plants including jatropha, rice and corn.

Economic Land Concession

The Concession in Kratie Province is located about 370 km away from the capital city of Cambodia, Phnom Penh, and is linked by National Highway No.6 and Nation Highway No.7. The Concession is also about 25 km from Cambodia’s major river, Mekong River.
