Staple Crop Processing Zone Kogi: Another form of land grabbing?

Under the Agricultural Transformation Agenda Nigeria designed the idea of Staple Crop Processing Zones. An investor brings a food processing plant, the farmers sell their produce to him/her. The farmers remain independant and keep their land, the ministry said.. Is this a model for the future or just another myth?

The formulation by the Malagasy authorities of policies and several laws involving the use of land by investors risks to organise the negation of peasants and local communities rights on their land.
