

Rubaya tea estate

Rubaya tea estate is comprised of a tea factory and tea plantations, which are situated on the hillsides of the Nile-Congo crest, near the home of the silver back or mountain gorilla.

Rubaya plantations total 1,150.18 hectares: 808.06 hectares of the industrial block and 342.12 hectares which belong to tea farmers.

It also owns 349 hectares of forest area allocated to fuel wood production.

At an elevation of 2,300 meters, Rubaya provides a conducive climate for tea farming, with rainfall varying from 1,500 to 1,600 mm per annum. Rubaya tea estate is comprised of a tea factory and tea plantations, which are situated on the hillsides of the Nile-Congo crest, near the home of the silver back or mountain gorilla.

Rubaya plantations total 1,150.18 hectares: 808.06 hectares of the industrial block and 342.12 hectares which belong to tea farmers.

It also owns 349 hectares of forest area allocated to fuel wood production.

At an elevation of 2,300 meters, Rubaya provides a conducive climate for tea farming, with rainfall varying from 1,500 to 1,600 mm per annum. Rubaya tea estate is comprised of a tea factory and tea plantations, which are situated on the hillsides of the Nile-Congo crest, near the home of the silver back or mountain gorilla.

Rubaya plantations total 1,150.18 hectares: 808.06 hectares of the industrial block and 342.12 hectares which belong to tea farmers.

It also owns 349 hectares of forest area allocated to fuel wood production.

At an elevation of 2,300 meters, Rubaya provides a conducive climate for tea farming, with rainfall varying from 1,500 to 1,600 mm per annum.

PARTENAIRES →

SUIVEZ-NOUS SUR

SITE WEB PAR

