Sources: Cambodia Herald and DAP News

PHNOM PENH.- Men Sarun (pictured), one of Cambodian richest tycoons and a senator from the Cambodian People's Party, died at 65 yesterday, said Um Sarith, secretary general of senate.

He added that Men Sarun died from high blood pressure and chronic diabetes.

His body was kept in his house near the senate building till December 25, 2011 waiting to be brought to a pagoda in Prek Phnov.

"We regret for his death," Um Sarith said.

Men Sarun, president of the Men Sarun Group which owned many companies, including Men Sarun Import Export & Construction Co., Ltd., the largest flour and rice mill in Cambodia, the maker of Cambodia's first instant noodle called Mee Yeung, is one of Cambodia's richest and influential tycoons.

- Anonymous said... Oh, My God. It is really really sad.Uncle Sarun died. I would like to show my condolence to his death. He is one of my dad's best friends. Before he become rich, he usually did businesses, slep, ate, drank with my dad. He have never missed my siblings' weddings even though he was very busy and rarely showed his face in public. I still remembered his face. I wish uncle Mok Kim Hong be still alive. 21 December 2011 9:37 pm

Anonymous said... 22 December 2011 2:03 AM Do you know for sure your accusation against this recently deceased man is true or is your information based on a third-party knowledge acquisition without credible verifiability? Labeling people might make you feel better about yourself but so you know it doesn't make you a better person in the eye of any intelligent person who is actually critically careful in their judgment of others. 22 December 2011 2:24 am
Anonymous said... 2:03am I guess you think your very intelligent person and please tell me.How were tycoon got rich without a connection to the ruler.(POWER)and also look around you in CAMBODIA to see how the khmer people lived in a very!!poor condition.What am I try to say is that criticism is the best form of intelligent to help move our country to the right direction. (Corruption is a disease problems in our khmer society) Love khmer 22 December 2011 3:15 am
Anonymous said... 22 December 2011 3:15 AM Sounds like you have very high standard and demand for people to lead honorable life. Let me ask you are you leading by examples or only verbally? Are you just sitting back and doing nothing but calling for others to do things you think are honorable? I mean if you want people to do something, you should at least try to do it to the best you can first. It's only hypocritical if you do nothing yourself for the country but demand others to do them. Ask not what others can do for the country. Ask what you can do for the country. 22 December 2011 3:43 am
