Jazz: Two grants from China and IGAD to develop the Rahad project

Assistant President of the Republic Dr. Awad Ahmed Al-Jaz, the Alternate President of the Higher Committee for the Supervision of Sudanese Relations with the El-Baraks States, unveiled a Chinese grant for the development of Al-Rahad Agricultural Project, along with a grant of $ 13 million from IGAD.

The countries of the region include China, India, Russia, Brazil and South Africa.

He stressed the State’s endeavor to develop the Al-Rahad Agricultural Project as a model for agricultural partnership with China, noting that it is strategically located on the national road.

Al-Jaz pointed to the identification of three crops grown this season in cotton, sunflower and peanuts at a rate of 1550 thousand feddans per crop. The beans achieved 40 zloty per feddan, while 68 feddans with a cotton yield of 1000 feddans were cultivated by the Chinese and achieved high and encouraging production rates. He explained that the plan aims to make the project a model for agriculture that ends in the industry by developing textile, seed processing, animal introduction in the agricultural cycle, export of meat instead of livestock, and post-slaughter industry to achieve value added products.

Al-Jaz said that Al-Rahad project is the only project that planted cotton and beans on time and benefited from the water of Khrubf, stressing the keenness of the state to achieve an economic model based on the interest of the farmer.
