

LAND GRABBERS – ITALY'S INVOLVEMENT IN THE GREAT LAND GRAB

WRITTEN BY ADMIN ON 13/06/2013. POSTED IN PUBLICATIONS

cover Land grabbers

The word grabbing means clutching, seizing, snatching or even looting. The association between the notion of grabbing and the word land has now become common in the Italian language too and it evokes a deeply worrying scenario. But who exactly is grabbing what? And from whom?

Italy is one of Europe's biggest investor in foreign land, second only to Britain. Which Italy are we talking about? Surely, it is a country of banks, insurance companies, big utility companies and clothing giants. However, there are also other smaller players involved, such as Italy's small and medium enterprises, ready to diversify their production if there is a chance to get incentives or tax relief, and Italy's ubiquitous small power plants (less than 1 MWh), seeking greater funding and convenient shortcuts to secure positive Environmental Impact Assessment outcomes.

This work aims at mapping out this side of Italy.

Download Land Grabbers

690 downloads

Tags: Arraffaterre, Land grabbers, Land grabbing

Trackback from your site.

LEAVE A COMMENT

GODIIMENTI - AN ABC GUIDE ON HOW TO RESIST DEVASTATING, USELESS, IMPOSED MEGA PROJECTS

This anthology is the end product of a collective writing workshop project promoted by the association Re:Common and run by Wu Ming 2 between January and June 2014.. LINK

VIDEO VISITING VIO.ME., THE SELF-MANAGED FACTORY IN GREECE

The workers of Vio.Me., a building materials factory in Thessaloniki, Greece, have decided to occupy the factory and operate it under direct democratic workers' control.

FOLLOW US ON FACEBOOK

TWITTER

Tweets di @Recommon

VIDEO OIL FOR NOTHING

Oil for Nothing, the documentary on Niger Delta exploitation, produced by CRBM/Re:Common and directed by Luca Tommasini on Vimeo.

HOME | CONTACT US | TERMINI DI UTILIZZO

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. If you continue to use this site we will assume that you are happy with it.

Ok

