Group Operating Platforms

Rift Valley divides its operations into five business platforms with strategic importance not only for the Group but also for the communities in which we work. Our platforms span a number of agriculture and energy-related industries – industries that enjoy both local and global demand.

Not only does Africa benefit from soils and climates highly suitable to cultivation but, as a developing continent, Africa also has a strong agrarian culture. To this favourable environment, Rift Valley brings finance, technical expertise and other essential inputs, thereby contributing to the realisation of the full natural potential of the region in which we operate. In addition to agriculture, Rift Valley develops energy projects. It is estimated that some 600 million Africans lack access to regular electricity and under these conditions of chronic supply deficit, there are large opportunities for developers of renewable energy resources.
